Notorious Hiltonia

By Lily Knezevich

"Police Find Big Still in Exclusive Hiltonia Home", so reads the banner headline of the Trenton Evening Times from July 3, 1930. And the "exclusive" Hiltonia home was 207 Renfrew — my house! "Big" was no exaggeration: cement block vats contained 45,000 gallons of fermenting mash. Two arrests were made, and a thriving bootlegging enterprise came to an abrupt end.

This was no mere zoning infraction, but an illegal enterprise operating in flagrant violation of the 18th Amendment to the US Constitution. The federal authorities were fighting an up-hill battle in Trenton, trying to bring law and order to a city where alcohol was openly distributed. One sign of what they were up against is that in the 1920's, the Trenton Chief of Police gave his personal protection to bootleggers and threatened to arrest any federal agents who tried to enforce the Volstead Act in the City.

I first heard rumors about that basement still soon after I moved into 207 Renfrew in 2003, when Doug Forer, my then backyard neighbor (Cornwall), told me two interesting stories about my new home. The first story was that there was once a still in my basement. Of course I was intrigued, but I didn't really know whether to believe it—maybe it was an urban legend? I did spend hours looking for evidence in my basement, but could find nothing that indicated distilling ever happened there.

Years later, in 2011, I found the evidence I was looking for after Michael Nalbone sent out an email explaining how to research the history of our Hiltonia houses using the resources at the Trentoniana room at the Trenton Public Library on Academy Street. I followed Michael's advice and that's how I came to find the 1930 report in the Trenton Evening Times (via microfilm). There on the front page was a photo of my (disgraced?) home. It was so satisfying to find the story after all that time, complete with colorful details: Edward Shelfer (who was renting the house) denying the existence of the still despite the overwhelming stench of all that fermenting mash; Mrs. Shelfer ironing shirts in the back of the house during the raid.

So Doug's story turned out to be true after all. But Doug had also given me another story to investigate, and that one I have yet to prove. The second story was that Eleanor Roosevelt once came to tea at 207 Renfrew. I'd love to believe Mrs. Roosevelt once had tea here—and, after all, Doug Forer was right about the still, so maybe he was right about Eleanor Roosevelt, too? If so, let's hope that when she dropped in to visit, it was many years after those notorious days in 1930 and the stench of the fermenting mash had long vanished.

(Editor's Note: Perhaps we can make this a "1st in A Series"??? See the article on page 7 about researching the history of your home.

We'd LOVE to include yours. Any takers???)

It's That Time of Year!!

The Boorse Family Introduces Themselves

We are Sam and Carol Boorse. We purchased 10 Hilvista Blvd. from the Selfs on August 8, 2017, and have been working on the house ever since. Our adult children moved in September. Emily and her husband, Jacob, live upstairs with their three cats, Bonnie, Celine, and Taffy. Our son Gabriel is working on his bachelor's in computer programming while working full time as a programmer.

We also have two younger children, Josiah, age 9, and Amie, age 6. Carol home schools Josiah and Amie, while Sam is a research scientist with Rive Technology in Monmouth Junction.

Our moving in is a gradual process as we are working on the house and still have a home in Skillman, which we will be listing in February. We are sort of glamping in the new house.

We had a rather sad introduction to the neighborhood when our cat Pablo ran out of the house and was missing for 21 days. Thankfully he is back at home with his three kitty siblings, Llewellyn, Cosette, and Adelaide. It is a pleasure to be here in Hiltonia. We've felt so warmly welcomed by everyone we meet and look forward to getting to know you all better!

Welcome to Matt & Becky !!

Matt Reilly and Becky Taylor have recently moved into 123 Cadwalader Drive. Matt is the public affairs officer for the U.S. Attorney's Office in Newark. Becky owns a public affairs firm, BTaylor Public Affairs, based in Lambertville. They most recently lived in Hopewell. Matt is the brother of Margaret Mason, who lives at 3 Cadwalader Drive.

A Belated Good-Bye

By Anne Self

Anne and George Self wanted to let us know that they had been planning to put their home on the market in May of 2018, but an offer came out of the blue; things almost went too fast for them. There was no time for goodbyes. Whew! A very nice family bought their house, Anne said.

Since their house in Tampa, Florida, was not yet ready for them to move into, they are traveling around a bit. They were recently in Yellowstone Park, having just come from Zion National Park when Anne wrote.

They have always loved their home, their friends, and neighbors and feel blessed to have been a part of Hiltonia for the past 34 years. The Tampa home is George's family home, so it will be especially nice to be "home" again.

Styrofoam Guidelines

By Maria Spillman

Please note that:

- Ray Bob Packaging in Tullytown accepts packing Styrofoam (<http://www.raybobpackaging.com/>)
- UPS store on Olden & Parkway—takes packing peanuts/worms; bubblewrap; and "bags of air"
- Whole Foods—yogurt/sour cream containers marked with the #5; corks and plastic bags. (<http://www.wholefoodsmarket.com/blog/whole-story/gimme-5-recycling>)
- Nursery at the psychiatric hospital - - plastic, clay, and ceramic pots; they also accept the little six-packs starters

.....to Barry Giordano & Joanne Rounsaville for hosting the wonderful and well-attended Hiltonia holiday party in their home!

.....to Kathleen and Brennan Coughlin for providing their assistance with the printing of this issue of The Hilltone; and for all their hard work in sponsoring the kids' Halloween event!

....to Hendricks Davis & Patrick Krey, Jim Ambrosio & Pat Rodeawald, and Jim Brownlee & Scott Collins for hosting our last three months of the "First Friday Flamingo" parties.

....to all the neighbors who provided content for this issue !!

....and to our AWESOME proofreaders, Terri O'Prey, Margaret Mason and Lily Knezevich!!!

Letter from Lily . . . "Hiltonia Hospitality"

I am thrilled to report that we have seen an increasing number of neighbors participating in our Hiltonia activities, both social events and at our business meetings. More participation leads to better sharing of information and ideas for how our Association can be more effective and help our neighborhood be all that it can be. (And the more that participate, the more fun we have!)

Hiltonia is blessed with so many hospitable folks. We are so lucky to have so many generous neighbors opening their homes in the last few months: Barry and Joanne who hosted the Winter Party, Kathleen and Brennan who contribute so much at National Night Out and the Halloween and Easter events, all the gracious folks who have hosted First Friday Flamingo Socials or general membership meetings. All these events get neighbors meeting and interacting with neighbors, thus building a stronger community.

As Nicole wrote to the Hiltonia Google group after Halloween this past fall, "Last night was the best Halloween night for trick or treaters since I moved in 20 years ago! We had close to 200 children..."

In 2018, let's continue to keep this trend going, building on participation, membership, and our great traditional activities for a better Hiltonia!

The Cookie Jar

If you have attended any of our recent meetings, then you have enjoyed the yummy homemade creations of Georgia Wallar, our Hospitality chair. And, lucky for us, she is willing to share some of her recipes for delicious treats. Here's another one to warm up your ovens.

Cider-Gingerbread Bundt Cake

CAKE:

- 4 tablespoons softened unsalted butter
- ¼ cup vegetable oil
- ¾ cup sugar
- 4 teaspoons gingerbread spice
- ½ tsp. salt
- ¼ tsp. baking soda
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 2 large eggs
- 1 ½ cups unbleached all-purpose flour
- 3 tablespoons boiled cider
- 3 tablespoons molasses
- 1 cup grated apple

GLAZE:

- 2 tbs. unsalted butter
- 2 tablespoons boiled cider
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 tsp. gingerbread spice
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- ¼ teaspoon ginger
- ¼ teaspoon cloves

TO MAKE THE CAKE:

- Preheat oven to 350 degrees
- Grease a small bundt-style pan (about 7")
- Beat together the butter, oil, sugar, spice, salt, baking soda, baking powder until light and fluffy, about 4 to 5 minutes.
- Add the eggs one at a time, beating after each addition until the batter is fluffy. Scrape the bottom and sides of the bowl.
- Beat in half the flour, and the boiled cider. Scrape the bottom and sides of the bowl, then beat in the remaining flour followed by the molasses. Fold in the grated apple.

- Pour the batter into the prepared pan.
- Bake the cake for 38-42 minutes until a cake tester inserted into the center comes out clean.
- Remove the cake from the oven, and cool for 5 minutes before turning it out of the pan.

TO MAKE THE GLAZE:

- While the cake is still warm, heat the butter, boiled cider, sugar, and spices together until the sugar has dissolved, stirring until well combined.
- Brush the glaze onto the warm cake; allow the cake to cool completely before slicing.

TCCA's Don Wallar Scholarship Award

Several Hiltonians attended the Trenton Council of Civic Associations' annual celebration and awards ceremony on November 9th. We had the pleasure of meeting the 2018 recipient of the Don Wallar Scholarship Award, Sema'J Berry, who is currently a student at Mercer County Community College.

She has her sights on eventually earning a degree in psychology at Rutgers within five years. Sema'J has been very involved in many community endeavors and service projects, all of which have affirmed her desire to serve others. One of her goals is to open a year-round community center in Trenton.

After the awards ceremony, Georgia Wallar had a chance to meet Sema'J and explain who the namesake of her award was. The Wallars have lived in Hiltonia for over 30 years. From the beginning Don was very involved in all things civic. He was a representative to TCCA for many years, chaired the volunteer beer pumping for several years at Heritage Days until that was abandoned, and was on the organizing committee of the first House Tour. The garden on Hilvista has also been named the "Don Wallar Memorial Garden." Don was beloved in Hiltonia and across the City of Trenton. He passed away in 2015.

Given the namesake of her award, we have every expectation that Sema'J will accomplish everything that she sets out to achieve.

Passage Theatre Company

By Pat Rodeawald

Trenton has a thriving arts community, including a professional theatre, Passage Theatre Company, situated in the historic Mill Hill Playhouse just outside of Mill Hill Park. My husband and I have been attending productions at the theatre for over 30 years. The acting is always excellent, and the productions are thought-provoking and creative.

In addition to producing plays, Passage also has a very active educational program for local youths. While attending a student-written and acted production in the charming Gandhi Garden in Trenton, I was inspired to take the next step and volunteer for the Passage Theatre Board of Directors.

Now I'm working to help raise funds and spread the word about Passage.

If you enjoy theatre, I encourage you to attend a production. In addition to plays, Passage also collaborates with DanceSpora and the Trenton Film Society to bring dance and film to the Mill Hill Playhouse.

Below is the current schedule of events. More information is at www.passagetheatre.org. I hope to see you at one of these productions!

Plays

- March 9-18: I of the Storm
- May 3-May 20: Caged, written by prisoners in the New Jersey Prison Cooperative

Other Events

- February 17: DanceSpora
- February 24: Passage Theatre Gala, our primary fundraising event
- March 1-3: Oscar-nominated shorts

Email Distribution & Opting-Out of the Printed Newsletter.....Kathi Eckert

We are trying to improve communication within the neighborhood, so we have created a new email list. If you received a duplicate newsletter, please let me know to which address you would like to continue receiving the electronic version of The Hilltone.

We would also like you to consider "opting-out" of the printed form of The Hilltone. Please send me a note from your preferred email to hilltone.news@gmail.com with your name, address, and phone with your wishes (email only, print only, or both versions). We will continue to distribute it in printed format if you so choose, but we will need your name and address to compile a list of print recipients. Thanks!!!

Crime Prevention Tips

By Ali Wilson

As some of you know, I work in the insurance industry. A couple of years ago I sent out an email regarding breaking and entering and robbery of abandoned homes. The recommendations below came from risk engineers with whom I used to work:

- Periodically check on the house. Walk the perimeter; look for broken windows, doors that have been left ajar, or ladders leaning against the house. Peek inside and look for blankets, sleeping bags, or debris from food, which could be evidence of squatters.
- Mow the lawn and water the landscaping. In the case of foreclosed homes, the bank might hire someone to come out and do this, but abandoned homes in real estate limbo will typically be neglected.
- Install timers and motion sensors on any outdoor lights. Any floodlights that point in the direction of the vacant house should have timers and motion sensors. That way, potential thieves will have trouble planning an unseen break-in.
- Occasionally park your car in the driveway. If the house is bank-owned or on the market, you should call and ask permission before doing this, but a car in a driveway indicates that the house is occupied.
- Collect discarded mail and newspapers. An overflowing stand-alone mailbox or newspapers piling up on the porch mean only one thing: nobody is home. This is a huge red flag for any burglars or squatters in the area.
- Shovel and de-ice the driveway and sidewalks. Not only will this demonstrate that the property is taken care of, but it will also guard against any slips or falls.
- Put up signs. Alarm company signs or decals or even a "Beware of Dog" sign go a long way in deterring potential burglars and squatters. Remember to ask permission if the house is on the market or owned by the bank, however.
- Organize a community watch program. By gathering neighbors and asking them to volunteer their time, you can monitor the neighborhood and create plans for what to do in the event of a break-in or other emergency situation.

Keep in mind that there are issues of liability if the true owner of the house would consider neighbors as trespassers. Nonetheless, it was strongly recommended that we organize an around-the-clock community watch program and well publicize it in the neighborhood and in the City. This will help to stem the tide of criminal behavior. We should continue to use email as an immediate communication tool about potential criminal activity.

As an FYI, our principal police contact is Detective Tamika Veal, who is our West Ward liaison with the TPD. Her email is tveal@trentonpolice.net. Her phone is 609-215-2501.

The "MYBLOCK" utility for reporting crime, incidents and violations is another tool to utilize. Access it at: <http://trentonpolice.com/my-block.html>

New Tax Exemption

All veterans (as of now, the definition of a "veteran" is anyone with a DD-214 that shows Honorable Discharge) who are residents of New Jersey can get a $3,000 personal tax deduction from their income on STATE taxes for 2017.

In order to get this deduction, the veteran needs to submit a copy of his/her DD-214 and a form to the NJ Division of Taxation. This link has all of the info and the form: <http://www.state.nj.us/treasury/taxation/newexemptionveterans.shtml>

Please note that (1) the website says that it may take up to 3 months for this to be processed, so don't wait until April 15th to submit it; and (2) you have to print the form, sign it, and then scan it as a PDF in order to submit it online.

If you submit it online, then you will get 3 emails: confirmation that you submitted it; confirmation Taxation received it; and then a claim number from Taxation.

Researching Your Home's History.....

By Lily Knezevich

The Trentoniana Room at the Trenton Free Public Library is an excellent source of information about your house, property records, and tax information. The records might include a photograph. Another resource is the website www.genealogybank.com. As Michael Nalbene explained in an email in 2011, this website has access to the Trenton Times going back many years, into the 1800's. The website is also used for genealogy purposes, so you can look up info about your family as well. Create your account to begin your no-risk 30-day trial – get unlimited access to all records found for you, and more.

The process to look up info on your house is simple: on the main page find "historical newspapers." On the historical newspapers page, type in your house number where it asks for "last name." Where it asks for first name, type in your street name (do not list the avenue, blvd., ONLY list the street name). Then in "Advanced Search" where it asks for "Include keywords with search," type in Trenton and you should find a state list where you should select NJ to narrow the search down as much as possible.

The information below is quoted from Michael's original email:

"This should give you lots of links to newspaper articles connected to your house...photos, announcements, articles about the owners.

From those listings I found quite a few that were relevant. Once you go through those listings you can do a search again with the owner's names that you found and find even more info about them. It was fascinating to learn the history of the house, but also about Trenton and what it was like to live here throughout the century.

This whole process could take just a few hours and you could find lots of interesting stuff. I found that the "almost" original owner of our house (whom I never knew about) was arrested for check fraud for writing fake checks for a new car and car supplies, and for $25,000 for purchasing our house! Ironically, in that check fraud case he had also swindled the future 4th owner of our house, who ran a tire business!"

Book Club

A few neighbors got together on February 11th for the initial gathering of this newly created group at Heather and Phil's home. They enjoyed a bit of French/German inspired dinner and conversation about All the Light We Cannot See by Anthony Doerr. It was interesting to learn from the participants about elements of the book which may have eluded us. The discussion was invigorating, the food delicious, and the company divine!!

Are you interested in being a member of our book club? Why not join us next time and help grow our fledgling group? (By the way, if there is already a Hiltonia book club that is still going, please let us know because we want to join! Or you may want to join us??)

To find out when we will next meet, and to learn which book has been chosen for our next gathering, reach out to Heather at heather.damron11@gmail.com for details.

Easter Egg Hunt

Save the date and join us March 24th for the annual Hiltonia Easter Egg Hunt! There will be snacks, kids' activities, and, of course, the hunt! Please feel free to invite friends and relatives. More details to come! If you'd like to help, or have any questions, please contact Kathleen Coughlin: 856-397-3799. Hope to see you then!!
